-My job is making a company to top 100, basically. With ruthless pragmatism, mind games and some dirty intellectual tricks. Dr. Sophie realised that he was actually disgusting from his own job. She deeply wondered what kind of things he did in his carrier. Probably, better not to hear them, but she will do if it will be necessary.

Mr. Ellison was looking kind of sad and tired. He talked about economics for half an hour, with no break. He mentioned that humanity took gold from deep parts of earth, and then price it psychologically and then keep them in deep parts of a bank case. It was ironic and meaningless, but billions of life circles were connected to this stupidity. Sophie's first impression was Mr. Ellison's interesting way of thinking about very unquestionable things.

Do you believe the world is fundamentally constructed on meaningless relations?
